Should I get a trial done before the wedding?

YES!

This is the perfect opportunity to meet your stylist and/or makeup artist that will be doing your hair/makeup for your wedding day! Your bridal specialist will go over all details and any questions you may have for your big day.

When should I book my trial appointment?

- We suggest doing the trial 1-3 months before the wedding.
- Try to schedule a dress fitting after your trial appointment to see the whole bridal look come together. (or for a fun girls night out)

How long will the appointment take and how much will it cost?

Hair - 1.5-2 hours ($130+)

Makeup - 1-1.5 hours ($130+)

"+" symbol indicates an extra charge depending on length/thickness of hair and/or complexity of service requested

Side Note: Remember, if you don't want your fiancé to see your wedding hair and makeup - we recommend that you do not book your trial on your shower day.

What to bring to your trial appointment?

- pictures or pinterest board of hair and makeup inspirations
- your veil and/or hair jewelry that you would like to incorporate in your style
- a photo of your wedding dress

IMPORTANT: For hair trials - hair MUST BE washed and dry the evening before or morning of appointment

Take pictures of your hair and makeup after your trial appointment. On your wedding day, you can show the photos to your stylist and create the same beautiful look.

Hair and makeup trials are a great opportunity to lay out all your expectations with your stylist and even receive some advice for your bridesmaid's hair and makeup as well. We encourage you to update your hairstylist if the curls held up, if your updo stayed in, and let your makeup artist know if your makeup was able to last all night.

We want to make sure you look gorgeous from the first look to the last dance!

Late Arrival/No Show:

Please be aware in the unfortunate event you are late by 15 minutes or more, we cannot guarantee that your service will be performed that day. Tardiness may require rescheduling your appointment to a different time or being cancelled.

If the wedding party is more than an 30 minutes late the assumption will be the client is a NO SHOW. In this case the client forfeits all deposits and payments.

Any "No Shows" the day of the event will also forfeit all deposits and payments.

We work very hard to schedule the right amount of time for each service. Accomodating late guests is often impossible without disrupting every other guest scheduled that day.

No changes can be made through voicemail, you must submit changes in writing via email or speak with one of our team specialists (Stefanie).
